In a thread on Twitter which was published after a user had decided to remove the TikTok app from their phone, one twitter user submitted a screenshot of an email that was sent by TikTok which stated "We will not sell or share your personal information with third-parties. Any information you share on TikTok is for your eyes only." One problem with this statement is that this app does not make it clear what constitutes "personal information" as well as whether or not the personal information of minors will be protected. The privacy policy of a social media website/app serves an important purpose in helping users decide whether or not they are willing to use the product, especially if they might be sharing their personal information. If there was more clarity about what constitutes the personal information of minors and how it would be protected, that could help justify how true it is that TikTok would never sell a minor's private information to other companies or entities.",

The requirement is fairly simple. You can record and upload videos with various effects including stickers, emoji's and text effects, which are all very easy to use. These videos are saved on the camera roll of the Videoplayer app which is also available for both iOS and Android users.",

The app has won numerous awards: Most Innovative Mobile App (2014), Best Entertainment App (2014) and Best Mobile Culture App (2015). The app is also listed on the Google Play Store as "Best Apps of 2014". According to Alexa, the website of TikTok has one of the highest rankings in the United States as ranked by its users.",

In an article published on The Guardian, it was alleged that "The confusion over terms and conditions had left parents confused about what they had agreed to when they downloaded the app. Now TikTok is in hot water again, this time because of some alarming content reported by a user." This article stated that "A 15-year-old girl in London has been banned from TikTok after she posted videos of herself being pranked while in her mother's bathroom. Her videos were reported as inappropriate, meaning the app has now blocked her from posting on it." This article was published on The Guardian.",

On April 4, 2019, Tencent announced that it purchased the app for $1 billion and would merge it into their own platform, Kuaishou. The company was sued for copyright infringement and unlawful reproduction of musical works by Viacom, Inc. on November 23, 2015. Viacom claimed that the users of the app have illegally uploaded and reproduced more than 10,000 pieces of content owned by Viacom under the U.S. Copyright Act, Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA), California Penal Code Section 502, and the California Uniform Trade Secrets Act (CUTSA). The lawsuit claimed that about 150 user accounts are registered with every second for which at least 20 million videos are being uploaded per day. Users were required to give the app their name, email address/password and a phone number.",
